

New Tundra Dynamics in Response to Climate Change

Neil Moore

Noticeable Changes

Methods

- Document timing of snow geese arrival and nesting
- Calculate gosling survival and monitor food choices
- Record predation events using camera traps and direct observations

Climate change in one area can drastically impact distant locations

Climate change can and is happening at a rapid pace

Animals and ecosystems may try to respond and adapt, but will it be fast enough?