Field Studies in Conservation
NRSM 215 – 1.0 credit
CRN: 75282

Professors: Brian Chaffin (Water Policy) & Alex Metcalf (Human Dimensions)

Students must have appropriate camping gear (we can help anyone find gear!). Class fee: $150

Join us for NRSM 215 this Fall and spend one full weekend traveling across Western Montana exploring current issues in Resource Conservation. Through field activities, readings, and discussions, we will investigate the ecological and social dynamics influencing natural resource and environmental management. We will meet with resource managers while visiting, viewing, and camping in spectacular locations.

This course is the field complement to NRSM 121S – Nature of Montana.

Take this class and study HERE!